2. Citations and explanations

- Claim 7 describes equipment that is capable of displaying either standby data (including a standby horizon) or automatic pilot instructions on a single screen, which equipment is provided with buttons for adjusting piloting instructions.

Such equipment can reduce the cost of an instrument panel in an aircraft.

Even though both elements are known per se, integrating a standby horizon and an automatic pilot into a single apparatus in this way is not disclosed in any other document.

The document entitled "MD11 Electronic Instrument System" discloses only an instrument panel that corresponds essentially to the preamble of claim 1 (the standby horizon is not explicitly described).

Document GB-A-2 107 059 discloses only a standby horizon using a display screen. It does not mention an automatic pilot.

- Claim 1 relates to an instrument panel including the equipment as per claim 7.

3. Claims 2-6 and 8-9 are dependent on claim 1 and claim 7, respectively, and, as such, therefore also fulfil the PCT requirements of novelty and inventive step.

Observations with respect to form

Contrary to the requirements of PCT Rule 5.1(a)(ii), the description does not indicate the relevant prior art disclosed in the two documents cited in the search report, nor does it cite said documents.
